

Technique two is a bit more complicated. Use a standard stapler, one that you would use to staple material to a bulletin board. Open it as if you were going to staple things to a bulletin board. Set two reams of paper, next to each other so that they are touching. Place the spine of the book over the seam made by the two reams of paper. Staple so that the staples pass through the book and between the two reams. Use a screwdriver or similar instrument to bend the tips of the staples over. Use two staples per book.
